

Global Warming and Global Dimming Propaganda

John Deahl
7/22/2007

There are two major opposing theories of what is happening on planet earth. One is global warming and the other is global dimming. Both of these theories have some excellent people and data to back up their claims. But both are wrong in their conclusions.

Whenever I run into a problem that has two opposing views or conclusions, one of my approaches is to think how both of these conclusions can be at least partially true. Kind of like trying to find the truth of the bible when something said is interpreted differently by two different people.

The global warming group blames man made pollution for the earths temperature rising. Basically they call them greenhouse gasses. These gasses are produced by any number of things like cows farting, cars, factories, volcanoes, decaying plants, etc. These gasses are trapped by the planets atmosphere and the effect heats up the planet.

Global dimming also blames man made pollution for the earth temperature rising. Basically the pollution clouds block the suns rays and produce a dimming effect which effects weather.

One could be suspicious of both of these scenarios coming to the forefront at the same time even though they both have many years invested in research.

Has anyone else noticed that just over the last couple of decades the organizations, foundations and governments have spent billions of dollars sending scientists into every corner of the world researching everything under the sun?

Why? And why now do we have this emergency? Makes me skeptical.

Global warming is pushed by the NWO and UN, which by itself makes it more than just suspect. The UN is not known for being even handed and promotes and follows the NWO agenda. The biggest problem is it has hit the scene seemingly all of a sudden, although there must have been a lot of behind the scenes work.

We are expected to give up everything to try and rescue the planet. We are being pushed with this scenario and the cure with billions of dollars being spent. The evidence and data provided is not reliable and is slanted to say the least.

It makes you wonder if some day the government will come forward and say there are in fact UFOs and aliens, and they are going to invaded earth so we have to spend trillions on defense.

The old adage of "follow the money" really applies.

Global dimming on the other hand has more reliable data and has at least some sound reasoning behind the scenario. It is not being forced on us like global warming and does not have the apparent financial and control motives.

One thing both causes do not account for is the localness of pollution. Yes, pollution can go around the globe, but the immediate effect is local.

China has passed every other country in pollution now. It is reported that China's pollution kills 750,000 of its own citizens each year. Most of this pollution is from local coal fired electric plants. Because of the demands for more power from the international corporations raping China for its cheap labor, they plan to build even more coal fired electric plants. And yet curiously no one is demanding China alter their plans. Could it be the NWO has so much control they can stifle all opposition and even all discussion of the subject?

The effect of this pollution is mainly local to China, but my point is we in the US do not see any major difference because of that massive pollution even though the wind currents should bring it to the USA.

Here are some interesting facts. Both scenarios include the sun as a factor. But neither of them accounts for the NASA report that our planet and other planets have increased temperatures due to the sun. People tend to believe that an increase in temperature from the sun means an increase in brightness, which is not necessarily true. Water evaporation has been proven to be more effected by the suns solar energy on water than by air temperature.

Neither scenario accounts for the earth's ability to cure itself. Global warming in particular takes the arrogant view that man can actually have a major effect. Especially with the current plan which really doesn't do anything but charge for things we are already doing. In fact, the current global warming plan wants us to go out and buy new more costly and more efficient appliances.

Sounds like a new scheme for promoting consumerism.

Mother Nature has proven itself over and over again to produce forces that man has never been able to understand, let alone harness its force.

The two major connections between the two conclusions are the sun and clouds. They even go into the makeup of clouds and the suns effect on the clouds.

But there is one thing that is never mentioned. And I mean never. That is chemtrails. The NWO does not want you to know anything about chemtrails. It is one of their weapons against the planet and all life on earth.

If there is one thing between the sun and the clouds it is chemtrails. Chemtrails contain aluminum which reflects the suns rays.

Clouds normally range between 3,000 to 30,000 feet in altitude. Jets fly and their chemtrails are sprayed above that altitude. Therefore, the suns effect on the earth is first affected by the chemtrails.

In addition, the materials that make up chemtrails would be held by the clouds.

I suggest that chemtrails are the cause of many of the current earth and humanitarian problems and should be looked into, and then stopped.

NASA says chemtrails are just contrails that don't dissipate as fast because of increased air traffic. This is just plain ridiculous! It defies all logic and constitutes a knowing lie by NASA.

Contrails are formed in the colder upper atmosphere when a hot jet exhaust passes through that cold air. Much like you going outside on a cold day and seeing your own breath when you breathe.

In reality, more air traffic would increase the upper air temperature and decrease the conditions to create the contrails in the first place.

If anything, more air traffic would make normal contrails last less time than they currently do, which is about one minute.

The jets spraying chemtrails last hours and even all day.

Chemtrails have been seen below clouds which are below the colder upper atmosphere needed to create contrails. Jets have been seen creating chemtrails and other jets next to them do not. Chemtrails have been seen to start, stop and even sputter across the sky.

Chemtrails contain elements not found in contrails. Chemtrails contain materials like, Aluminum, barium, viruses, molds, fungus, blood cells and nano fibers that are deadly for all forms of life on earth. People are in fact dying from the chemtrails. Morgellons disease, fatigue, asthma and other unknown respiratory diseases are increasing at an alarming rate.

Global warming and global dimming will not be resolved by any current effort. How can anyone expect to change the situation by changing your light bulbs? Or by doing the same things but with the approval of buying carbon credits? It is laughable!

The saddest thing is that modern man is encouraged to he or she is the center of the universe and is capable of changing the earth. If anything, that will be a grave mistake.

The solution is to stop chemtrails and stop the NWO from controlling, raping and oppressing countries.